and enjoyed a pleasant interview with Hon. Geo. Evans at his house in Bangor.

At five o'clock in the morning on Thursday the Charter Oak started on her return to this city, amid the enthusiastic cheers of a large company. A meeting was organized on board the boat and a call being made upon Hon. Edward Robinson, the candidate for Governor who was a passenger on board, he responded in a neat and highly appropriate speech reviewing with much discrimination the powers of the General Government and the measures most conducive to the general welfare. His reasoning was forcible and his remarks were listened to with marked attention and received with great applause.

Several other gentlemen addressed the meeting during the day and Col. J. W. Webster favored the company with the following —

Impromptu Song.

Tune.—The Rose of Allendale.

Come all the Charter's generous host
Come listen while ye may
And while we cheer friend Robinson
We'll shout Hurrah for Clay
The Whigs of Maine will do the work
They'll give the coons their due
They'll bid fare well to Jimmy Polk
And say good by to Hugh.

Our ship of state in strength and pride
We'll man her in the fall
Her crew will help the Captain guide
Her safe thro' every squall
When storms assail and tempests lower
And clouds obscure the sun
The Whigs of Maine will prove a tower
Led on by Robinson

Let Locos tremble fear and quake
Let Polkites preach and pray
The Whigs of Maine their ranks will break
On next election day
Poor Martin sleeps at Kinderville
Buchanan's lost his day
Now let Tecumseh weep and wail
While we will shout for Clay.

Let Texas heroes shout the cause
Protection cast away
Let them abuse the wholesome Laws
Approved by Henry Clay
November winds will cool their brows
Their work will then be done
We'll ere that day redeem our vows
With Clay and Robinson.

The Charter now in stately pride
Moves gaily on her way
While all she bears upon the tide
Are friends to Henry Clay
We're sturdy hands and hearts of stone
For every Loco wail
Then give three cheers for Robinson
And hail Kentucky Hall.

Press on proud Steamer—press along
Let nothing check your way
And while we join in cheerful song
We'll shout aloud for Clay
Our thanks are due to Captain Howes
With him we love to sail
The next we'll cheer the Ladies fair
She's the Rose of Allendale.

On arriving at Thomaston a salute was fired from the shore and as Mr Robinson left the boat he was greeted with loud and rapturous cheers.

At Belfast the Waldo delegation was escorted by the military and a large number of Penobscot and the eastern delegation into the village to the front of the Eagle Hotel, from the steps of which they were addressed by I. Washburn, Jr. Esq., on invitation of Ralph C. Johnson, Jr. Esq. Col. J. W. Webster responded in his usual happy manner when three cheers were given upon each side and the company separated. The passage up the river was delightful and the people at the several landings were enthusiastic in their reception.

Hon. Levi Woodbury at Bangor.

Large hand bills about the city and scattered through the country, announce that the Hon. Levi Woodbury of New Hampshire will address the Loco Foco State Mass Meeting in Bangor on the Fourth of July. It is amusing and instructive to witness the readiness, ease, and quiet air of triumph with which the South Carolina school of free trade and nullification politicians assume the lead of the party, since they succeeded so beautifully in doing "justice to the cause and justice to the man," by thrusting Mr Van Buren and his friends from their stools. The party is now committed, body and soul, to the ultra free trade projects of those utterly opposed to all protection to American Labor, and therefore it is well that they put forward such men as Mr Woodbury, who, like John Randolph, would kick a sheep from mere hatred to the protected wool on its back. We like this issue.

The following cases were argued before the Supreme Court on Saturday, viz.

The Showbag Clarion states that on Wednesday last, Capt. Samuel Searle, Isaac Marshall of Waterville, Levi Parker of Norridgewock, and John Johnson of Athens, while at work shingling a building in Showbag, were precipitated to the ground, a distance of eighteen feet and were severely much injured by the breaking of bones and by severe bruises. They are all likely to recover.

The Washington correspondent of the N. Y. Express states that there is little or no probability of an extra session of Congress.

We learn by the Providence Journal, the Supreme Court at Newport, R. I., having refused the motion in arrest of judgment, sentenced Thomas W. Door to imprisonment at hard labor, in solitary confinement, in the State Prison at Providence, for the term of his natural life.—Previous to the sentence, in answer to the customary question whether the prisoner had aught to say why sentence should not be pronounced against him, Gov. Dorr replied in a speech boldly reviewing the action of the Court, and concluding with the declaration that he would not exchange his place as a prisoner at the bar for a seat beside the judges.

He has been committed to the State Prison in accordance with the sentence of the Supreme Court, by the Sheriff of the county of Newport.

Mr. Sullivan Dorr, the father of Thomas W. Dorr, has petitioned the Legislature for the pardon of his son, or a commutation of the punishment to imprisonment in the county jail.

Great Robbery.

On Monday night one of the baggage cars of the train on the Utica and Schenectady Railway became detached and was left behind. The accident was not discovered until the train arrived at Schenectady. The baggage car was brought down by next train, and a gentleman from Michigan, on examining his valise which was in this car, found the lock had been picked, and $10,000 in money taken from it. It is not known whether the robbery was committed on board the car, during the night, or on some previous day, between Detroit and Troy.

Steamer Macedonia Burned.

The Louisville Journal says, we learn from the clerk of the Duke of Orleans, that, on Monday morning, the 17th inst., the steamer Macedonia, Capt. Cleghorn, bound from New Orleans to St. Louis, took fire in the pantry or cook-house, and was entirely destroyed. The passengers (some hundred of them English emigrants) were all got safely on the Louisiana shore, a few miles below Natchez, losing nearly all their baggage. The deck passengers barely escaped with their lives. As far as can be ascertained, no person was lost.

Whig Meeting.

In pursuance to a notice there was a large and enthusiastic meeting of the whigs, at the City Hall on Saturday evening the 20th inst. which was organized by choosing N. G. Norcross, Esq. Chairman and S. C. Hatch, Sec. A report was made by J. S. Sayward, Esq. in behalf of the delegates to the State Convention. After which the meeting was ably and eloquently addressed by Hon. George Hunt of Newburyport, Mass. and by Hon. E. H. Allen, Hon. Edward Kent and Nathaniel Hatch, Esq. of this city; on motion it was voted that the thanks of this meeting be presented to the Bangor City Greys for the acceptable and soldier-like manner in which they performed escort duty on the 26th inst.

Voted, to adjourn.

N. G. NORCROSS, Chairman.
S. C. HATCH, Sec'y.

The American brig Mary, French, from Aux Cayes, while lying in the harbor of Aux Cayes, would have been rifled of the entire cargo by the natives, had it not been for the prompt and manly interference of Commander Freelon, of the U. S. States sloop of war Preble, as it was to his skill and courage, also of his brother officers, that the Captain was indebted for the safety of his crew, and preservation of the vessel and cargo.

Arrest.

The Baltimore Patriot states that Charles T. Torrey, "a colored man, has been arrested in that city; charged upon oath of Bushrod Taylor of Winchester, Va., with being a fugitive from justice in that State. The crime alleged against him was stealing negro slaves.

This person is supposed to be Rev. Charles T. Torrey formerly of Massachusetts. The statement of the part he is supposed to have taken does not seem to afford much evidence of his guilt.

From Mayaguez, P. R.

The brig Aldrich Capt John G. Perie, from Mayaguez, P. R. 13th inst. arrived at this port yesterday. We learn from Capt. P., that the island had been visited with heavy rains, previous to his sailing, for several successive days, which served to restore vegetation to its wonted state, and the prospects for tall crops were quite flattering. Sugar was scarce and high, and also were hides. The market was glutted with American produce, which met with very dull sale.

Missouri.

The greatest enthusiasm seems to pervade the Whig party in every section of our country. The papers teem with accounts of mass meetings. There was an immense gathering in the town of Jackson, Cape Girardeau Co. Missouri, on the 3d instant, at which Judge Edward Broughton presided.

Resolutions pledging the support of the meeting to Clay and Freminghysen, and setting forth the great cardinal principles of the Whig party were adopted by acclamation. Speeches were made throughout the day distinguished friends of the cause, and an adjourned meeting was held on the following day, which was numerously attended. —Baltimore American.

WASHINGTON, June 22, 1844.

Perhaps never in the history of our Government, from the very first establishment of the Constitution, has there assembled in Washington or elsewhere, a House of Representatives of such ordinary, and even debased character as the one just adjourned. Ignorance, presumption, and coarse buffoonery, were its leading characteristics. The morals of its constitution was of the lowest grade. You might have found there every phase of character that distinguishes St. Giles, or the worthless burlesque of Paris—intemperate language, obscene conduct, unprincipled and reckless acts. The House seemed an assembly of bacchanals, where every thing was tolerated but decent behavior, and nought ennobled but joentious abandonment. Coarse epithets, the blackguard of the streets used only in its immoderate anger, here formed the staple of speeches, or ordinary conversation; the language of the daily haunts of immoral members was transferred to the highest deliberative assembly in the land; the vulgar debauchery of the most abandoned places of the metropolis was familiarized within the walls of the capitol; and the immoral perpetrator was saved the necessity of blushing, from the encouragement of example. Vice assumed more hideousness, as it became more prominent.

One member of Congress was discovered in passing off the excess of stationery he had pilfered, in exchange for a carpet-bag. He never wrote, but he could journey at the rate of twenty dollars every hundred miles. Another often disgraced the State he represented, and the House to which he was accredited, by the exhibition of beastly intoxication, and its consequent impurities. While still another, more dishonored than either, was shamefully driven from the city, from having been detected in playing with marked cards. The arts he had learned with the gamblers of his own grade, before his election, he practiced in Washington—and mulcted his colleagues and gentlemen with whom he associated to a larger amount than his mileage and per diem. He was turned out of the post-office department for official malversation, and gained a seat in Congress—where he has more than justified the expectations of his constituents.

As a lover of the institutions and character of our country, we must deplore such things. Nor is our regret sensibly diminished, that the culprits were members of the dominant party in the House. We grieve more, far more, as a patriot, than we rejoice as a partisan.

If we turn from the moral to the intellectual character of the House, we find no cause for congratulation. A popular assembly of meaner intellect could not be selected at large throughout the country. With the exception of a very limited number, it was a gathering of the most ordinary individuals. Some were ignorant of the elementary principles of law; others had not read the constitution they had sworn to hold sacred; and not a few, disdaining of grammar, and innocent of orthography, outraged common sense, and perplexed even their own understandings.

And their presumption even exceeded their ignorance. Men, who could not spell the words political economy, undertook to explain its principles; and those, whose confined education and limited experience left them unacquainted with the easiest rudiments of finance, gave us treatises upon banking. If all could write, with some it was a matter of difficulty—with still more was their penning to be deciphered. The schoolmaster must have been abroad, when most of them were educated at home.

To all this, there are some brilliant exceptions. How must Massachusetts's octogenarian orator have felt in such a crowd!—a giant springing or disgusted with pygmies. He seemed to have felt the degraded character of the assembly with whose councils he was associated, and to have avoided as much as practicable, all connection with its deliberations or deeds, through fear of future history! He was among them, like a being of another order—a creation of an earlier period.

Other exceptions were the two Ingersolls, gentlemen both, and scholars; Severance of Maine, a man of sterling integrity, and sober talents; Winthrop of Massachusetts, whom it is unnecessary to praise; Barnard of New York; some from Pennsylvania, Maryland and Ohio; Dringcole of Virginia; Barringer and Saunders of North Carolina; White of Kentucky; and others of other States, men of talent, and gentlemanly deportment. Still, however, in not sufficient numbers to characterize an assembly of over two hundred persons.

The fault, however, of such misrepresentation, lies with the people. It they prefer the noisy, selfish demagogue, and the unprincipled partisan, to the men of sound judgement, and the enlightened patriot, upon them must rest the consequence. In their power is the choice between good and evil—between useful and villainous legislation. The passage of wise laws, and their honest administration, depends on them—so they choose, so must the result be.

CIRCULAR.

THE subscriber truly grateful for the many marks of favor bestowed upon him for the last five years by his fellow citizens and friends in this and adjoining Counties, would respectfully request the patronage of as many as can make it convenient hereafter, and assures all that he has so connected himself with manufacturers of Stoves and other Iron Ware that he will in his new capacity be at all times well supplied with the very best of Castings made from the best quality of Iron now known for Stove manufacturing, and would state for the satisfaction of the public, that of more than 200 Cook Stoves sold by him the past year made of Putt'sford, Vermont Iron, not one to his knowledge has cracked or broken from the effect of fire, and of more than $2000 worth purchased of the above named castings by him for the last five years not one tenth of one per cent has cracked in all common use. This must be acknowledged by all to be without a parallel in stove vanding. Owing to the extreme demand for Stoves of this manufactory the subscriber has been unable heretofore to be amply supplied with Stoves of their make, and in order to increase his supply has been induced to connect himself in business with the manufactory at Vermont and Rhode Island, and would invite all who are in want of good, strong and durable Cooking Stoves to call on HENRY A. WOOD & CO. No. 1, 2, 3, Mercantile Block, Broad Street, where they will at all times find a good assortment of the above named Vermont Castings, and an extensive assortment of other kinds of Stove Castings.

Mr. W. would call the attention of his country friends to the celebrated Maine Farmer's Cook Stove invented by himself in the fall of 1841, and introduced by him about two years since, of which he has sold near 300, and in every case has given the most entire satisfaction. This stove has 3 fire rooms one of which will admit wood 26 inches long or common cord wood sawed once—the back fire room is smaller and is immediately under the oven and with a few chips or light stuff the oven can be heated, and 2 boilers boiled and that without heating the room to put the most delicate lady to the least inconvenience in dog-days. The Charcoal or front fire room is calculated for broiling, boiling or frying, but is more particularly calculated for broiling and frying as by opening the front doors of the Stove all of the steam of frying which is the most offensive will escape into the stove and pass off into the pipe—it has in all 5 places for boiling and a very large elevated oven and will do more business with the least trouble of any stove now in use.

At five o'clock in the morning on Thursday the Charter Oak started on her return to this city, amid the enthusiastic cheers of a large company. A meeting was organized on board the boat and a call being made upon Hon. Edward Robinson, the candidate for Governor who was a passenger on board, he responded in a neat and highly appropriate speech reviewing with much discrimination the powers of the General Government and the measures most conducive to the general welfare. His reasoning was forcible and his remarks were listened to with marked attention and received with great applause.

Several other gentlemen addressed the meeting during the day and Col. J. W. Webster favored the company with the following —

Impromptu Song.
Tune.—The Rose of Allendale.

Come all the Charter's generous host
Come listen while ye may
And while we cheer friend Robinson
We'll shout Hurrah for Clay
The Whigs of Maine will do the work
They'll give the coons their due
They'll bid fare well to Jimmy Polk
And say good by to Hugh.

Our ship of state in strength and pride
We'll man her in the fall
Her crew will help the Captain guide
Her safe thro' every squall
When storms assail and tempests lower
And clouds obscure the sun
The Whigs of Maine will prove a tower
Led on by Robinson

Let Locos tremble fear and quake
Let Polkites preach and pray
The Whigs of Maine their ranks will break
On next election day
Poor Martin sleeps at Kinderville
Buchanan's lost his day
Now let Tecumseh weep and wail
While we will shout for Clay.

Let Texas heroes shout the cause
Protection cast away
Let them abuse the wholesome Laws
Approved by Henry Clay
November winds will cool their brows
Their work will then be done
We'll ere that day redeem our vows
With Clay and Robinson.

The Charter now in stately pride
Moves gaily on her way
While all she bears upon the tide
Are friends to Henry Clay
We're sturdy hands and hearts of stone
For every Loco wail
Then give three cheers for Robinson
And hail Kentucky Hall.

Press on proud Steamer—press along
Let nothing check your way
And while we join in cheerful song
We'll shout aloud for Clay
Our thanks are due to Captain Howes
With him we love to sail
The next we'll cheer the Ladies fair
She's the Rose of Allendale.

On arriving at Thomaston a salute was fired from the shore and as Mr Robinson left the boat he was greeted with loud and rapturous cheers.

At Belfast the Waldo delegation was escorted by the military and a large number of Penobscot and the eastern delegation into the village to the front of the Eagle Hotel, from the steps of which they were addressed by I. Washburn, Jr. Esq., on invitation of Ralph C. Johnson, Jr. Esq. Col. J. W. Webster responded in his usual happy manner when three cheers were given upon each side and the company separated. The passage up the river was delightful and the people at the several landings were enthusiastic in their reception.

Hon. Levi Woodbury at Bangor.

Large hand bills about the city and scattered through the country, announce that the Hon. Levi Woodbury of New Hampshire will address the Loco Foco State Mass Meeting in Bangor on the Fourth of July. It is amusing and instructive to witness the readiness, ease, and quiet air of triumph with which the South Carolina school of free trade and nullification politicians assume the lead of the party, since they succeeded so beautifully in doing "justice to the cause and justice to the man," by thrusting Mr Van Buren and his friends from their stools. The party is now committed, body and soul, to the ultra free trade projects of those utterly opposed to all protection to American Labor, and therefore it is well that they put forward such men as Mr Woodbury, who, like John Randolph, would kick a sheep from mere hatred to the protected wool on its back. We like this issue.

Captain Stockton has given a hundred dollars to the fund in aid of the distressed relatives of the persons slain during the Philadelphia riots.

WASHINGTON, June 22, 1844.

Perhaps never in the history of our Government, from the very first establishment of the Constitution, has there assembled in Washington or elsewhere, a House of Representatives of such ordinary, and even debased character as the one just adjourned. Ignorance, presumption, and coarse buffoonery, were its leading characteristics. The morals of its constitution was of the lowest grade. You might have found there every phase of character that distinguishes St. Giles, or the worthless burlesque of Paris—intemperate language, obscene conduct, unprincipled and reckless acts. The House seemed an assembly of bacchanals, where every thing was tolerated but decent behavior, and nought ennobled but joentious abandonment. Coarse epithets, the blackguard of the streets used only in its immoderate anger, here formed the staple of speeches, or ordinary conversation; the language of the daily haunts of immoral members was transferred to the highest deliberative assembly in the land; the vulgar debauchery of the most abandoned places of the metropolis was familiarized within the walls of the capitol; and the immoral perpetrator was saved the necessity of blushing, from the encouragement of example. Vice assumed more hideousness, as it became more prominent.

One member of Congress was discovered in passing off the excess of stationery he had pilfered, in exchange for a carpet-bag. He never wrote, but he could journey at the rate of twenty dollars every hundred miles. Another often disgraced the State he represented, and the House to which he was accredited, by the exhibition of beastly intoxication, and its consequent impurities. While still another, more dishonored than either, was shamefully driven from the city, from having been detected in playing with marked cards. The arts he had learned with the gamblers of his own grade, before his election, he practiced in Washington—and mulcted his colleagues and gentlemen with whom he associated to a larger amount than his mileage and per diem. He was turned out of the post-office department for official malversation, and gained a seat in Congress—where he has more than justified the expectations of his constituents.

As a lover of the institutions and character of our country, we must deplore such things. Nor is our regret sensibly diminished, that the culprits were members of the dominant party in the House. We grieve more, far more, as a patriot, than we rejoice as a partisan.

If we turn from the moral to the intellectual character of the House, we find no cause for congratulation. A popular assembly of meaner intellect could not be selected at large throughout the country. With the exception of a very limited number, it was a gathering of the most ordinary individuals. Some were ignorant of the elementary principles of law; others had not read the constitution they had sworn to hold sacred; and not a few, disdaining of grammar, and innocent of orthography, outraged common sense, and perplexed even their own understandings.

And their presumption even exceeded their ignorance. Men, who could not spell the words political economy, undertook to explain its principles; and those, whose confined education and limited experience left them unacquainted with the easiest rudiments of finance, gave us treatises upon banking. If all could write, with some it was a matter of difficulty—with still more was their penning to be deciphered. The schoolmaster must have been abroad, when most of them were educated at home.

To all this, there are some brilliant exceptions. How must Massachusetts's octogenarian orator have felt in such a crowd!—a giant springing or disgusted with pygmies. He seemed to have felt the degraded character of the assembly with whose councils he was associated, and to have avoided as much as practicable, all connection with its deliberations or deeds, through fear of future history! He was among them, like a being of another order—a creation of an earlier period.

Other exceptions were the two Ingersolls, gentlemen both, and scholars; Severance of Maine, a man of sterling integrity, and sober talents; Winthrop of Massachusetts, whom it is unnecessary to praise; Barnard of New York; some from Pennsylvania, Maryland and Ohio; Dringcole of Virginia; Barringer and Saunders of North Carolina; White of Kentucky; and others of other States, men of talent, and gentlemanly deportment. Still, however, in not sufficient numbers to characterize an assembly of over two hundred persons.

The fault, however, of such misrepresentation, lies with the people. It they prefer the noisy, selfish demagogue, well as utility. Physicians, aware of its medicinal properties, and witnessing its effects even in extreme and in some instances apparently almost hopeless cases, often prescribe it in their practice, both as a palliative and a remedy, and with the Medical Faculty generally it has met with great approbation.

CONSUMPTION.—The following remarks were taken from the last number of the Medical Magazine:
"The surprising effect produced by the genuine
Dr. Taylor's Balsam of Liverwort, made at 375 Bowers, in consumptive cases, cannot fail exciting a deep and thrilling interest throughout the world.
We have so long considered this disease (consumption) incurable, that it is difficult to credit our senses when we see persons, evidently consumptive, restored to health. Yet it is a fact of daily occurrence."

Certificates from the highest and most respectable sources, or persons who have been either greatly relieved by it, or entirely recovered from affections of the Lungs and Liver, could be furnished in abundance, but we insert only the following CERTIFICATE.

Liver Complaint and General Debility. I was given up by two physicians, and told to prepare for death. I was so weak I could not raise my hand to my head. I was in this low state, when a friend sent me a bottle of Dr. Taylor's Balsam of Liver-wort, from 375 Bowers, and before I had used up the bottle, I was able to sit up in bed. By the further use I have completely regained my health.

WORMS IN CHILDREN. Of all diseases to which children are exposed, none are so fatal to them as worms. Unfortunately, children are seldom free from them, and as they imitate the symptoms of other complaints, they often produce alarming without being suspected. They are not only a disease themselves, but by their irritation aggravate other diseases, wandering from one part of the system, and then to another, and frequently the throat, stomach, bowels, and the lungs, and the system in general, and the child is in a state of which will very soon destroy the worms, and increase the powers of digestion so as to prevent a return. PRICE 50 cents.

Hair Tonic.
NO EXCUSE FOR A BALD HEAD. Since the discovery of DR. JAYNE'S HAIR TONIC, no one may, if he chooses, preserve their hair from falling off, or if already bald, may, with certainty, have their hair restored again by a faithful and persevering use of this valuable HAIR TONIC.

Please to read without prejudice the following testimonial, which, in addition to hundreds of equally respectable, should remove the doubts of any reasonable person of the uniform and singular effect of JAYNE'S HAIR TONIC.

Dr. D. Jayne—Dear Sir: I cannot say my hair is restored, but I can say that it appears to be in a process of restoration as could reasonably be expected. I had not finished the first bottle, before a change was manifest over the bald part of the head which it was applied. A new growth of hair was much like that of an infant, appeared, continued to increase, and I have had it cut two times. I have never seen the effect of any other tonic, but have been a good deal irregular in the use of the Tonic from the first, and from this cause I doubt the effect is at present less than it otherwise have been.

I began the use of the Tonic with little hope, that it would ever be successful on my head, but felt entire confidence in your statements of what you do for others; and I was so much surprised lighted when I saw the effect. You need not persecute of my head when in your office. I have the hair has been nearly, if not quite, an inch thinner I have had it cut, on those parts which nearly destitute of any when you saw me. It was ever, very fine, though quite thick. I am now anguine, hopes of final success, in the diligent use of your Tonic, which, amidst all the hair have been advertised in the papers, I am compelled to believe is what it claims to be, and that it will the hair grow, and no mistake, at least some
